PICTFOR

The Parliamentary Internet, Communications and Technology Forum (PICTFOR)

is the largest and most active All-Party Parliamentary Group.

As an official All-Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) operating in the Houses of Parliament, we bring together Parliamentarians from all parties and both Houses with key players in the internet, communications and technology sectors to engage with the most pressing issues of today and tomorrow.

As evident in our name, we focus on three policy areas: internet, communications and technology. These inspired our logo with each of the three dots representing our related core themes. Our legacy began over 30 years as the Parliamentary Information Technology Committee (PITCOM). We continue the tradition of innovation and inviting diverse stakeholders to join the conversation by hosting numerous high-level discussions to exchange ideas to strengthen the UK's position as a leading digital economy.

Benefits of Membership

Join PICTFOR to support our events which bring to light ideas to strengthen the UK's digital economy. Benefits of becoming a member include the following:

- Play an important role in policymakers understanding the sector: In today's dynamic environment, with the internet, tech and comms sectors' exponential capacity to advance, it is essential for industry to share their vision with policymakers.
- Gain access to events: We facilitate a busy events programme of 1-2 members-only events each month, providing plenty of opportunities to engage.
- Set the agenda: Members play an essential role in selecting discussion topics, delivering events, providing relevant speakers, and sharing their perspectives.
- Join fellow thought-leaders: Our industry members comprise a wide range of companies including some of the most well-known international tech companies, national media and communications organisations, some of the most rapidly growing innovative UK-based companies, accelerator and incubator programmes, significant membership organisations, and excellent universities.
- Broaden your networks: In addition to our substantial industry membership, we enjoy strong Parliamentary engagement which is constantly increasing; we have one of the highest number of Parliamentary officers of any APPG and 100 different Parliamentarians attended at least one of our events in 2017.
- Diversify the ways you engage: Our annual programme consists of many different types of events across the year including panel events, roundtable discussions, Parliamentary briefings, a Summer Reception, CEO Forum roundtables reserved exclusively for corporate-level members, and a high-level Annual Dinner (additional cost for attendees at the dinner).
